edu- or .org-based, face-to-face courses, and even in-person professional development experiences for teacher support and development. The AE E-Teacher Program will offer registered individuals the opportunity to engage in a rich academic experience with the University of Arizona in the U.S. and in their own country. To be eligible to apply for the AE E-Teacher Program, you must either be an E-Teacher Program pre-approved partner or a proposed and/or approved E-Teacher Program partner in good standing. Partner status and approval is subject to review of your eligibility. For complete details of the AE E-Teacher Program, visit [www.ae.arizona.edu/pdf/e-teacher_program_2016-18.pdf](The University of Arizona does not require the E-Teacher Program to provide any financial support for a teacher's registration and tuition or for any E-Teacher Program activities. Teachers are eligible to participate in a University of Arizona course or event without having to pay any fee or to attend any course or event that requires an additional cost to the University or an associated service. Teachers who are selected to participate in the University's professional development activities do not have to pay an application or enrollment fee, but they are responsible for their own costs and travel expenses, as determined by the University of Arizona. The University will provide assistance for teachers who may have financial need. If you have any questions about this program, please contact . What is an E-Teacher? ==================== The new AE E-Teacher Program will allow you to explore ways to develop and refine your teaching skills and your teaching approaches through online, .edu- or .org-based, face-to-face courses, and in-person professional development experiences for teacher support and development. An E-Teacher is an individual who is employed by or otherwise affiliated with an institution of higher education that has been approved for participation in the AE E-Teacher Program. A participating institution is a public, private, or proprietary institution. Participating institutions must meet the following requirements: - The institution must be a higher education provider as defined by the regulations of the U.S. Department of Education, Title IV, and 34 CFR part 600 -
