TWIN PAINT STAINLESS STEEL LEER CANOPY KIT NUMBER LOO Do you have any advice on how to get rid of rust in the old SL UV4C. The paint is still holding on to the stainless steel box so I'm not sure if that's what will be the first line of defense? And can someone please recommend a good product to send through for a cleaning of the old box. So what is a better way to go? A: it is a rolling conveyer " which can be utilized to eliminate rust and prevent paint from peeling. simple, mix some baking soda, baking powder, salt, and vinegar in a bucket (like a clean sink) and. add to the water based paint and let set. rinse with clean water and repeat if necessary. If you have a 4-post hitch with a trailer out type, you should use an anti-rattle silicone. It's usually the bottom bar the vehicle sits on on the bottom of the "C" arms. I didn't know about it until I didn't have the proper kit to get rid of the rust on it. It's a nice tip. A: Well, if your truck is a short bed then you won't have any open running boards because the bed walls fall in pretty far over the bed sides. One option would be to take a piece of wood and cut a slot a little wider than the depth of your truck bed and cut a channel in the wood about a foot deep and 5" to 6" wide and channel wide. Then cut a piece of wood about 1/8th to 1/4th thick with a 1/2" hole drilled and a 1/4" cap nut on top. Put your fan in, fill the channel with silicon sealant, wedge it in the channel, and tighten the nut down. Then cut a piece of cardboard and hinge it to the fan so it can move up and down. Maybe use a magnetic catch at the opening end, and figure out a way to close the opening with the fan still attached. I would try to keep the rear of the fan cover as smooth as possible and remove any cuticle of the wood where it enters the bed. If you have a longer bed then a similar method could be used to cover up a section of the cab that you don't want touching the bed.
