Real-time quantitative PCR: an efficient method for the detection of Trichinella sp. in a multiplex reaction. We developed a single-tube PCR assay to detect the species of Trichinella sp. in a multiplex reaction, based on the species-specific tandem repeat of the internal transcribed spacer region in the ribosomal RNA. The specificity of the assay was investigated by testing four Trichinella species and three other parasite species using genomic DNA from each species. The assay was validated by testing 30 faeces samples from pigs which had been experimentally infected with Trichinella spp. The detection limit of the assay was between 1 and 10 larvae per gram (lpg) of faeces. The applicability of the assay was tested by analysing the faeces of pigs and rabbits experimentally infected with Trichinella nelsoni and T. spiralis. The PCR assay developed for the detection of
