a different parameterization of the [H[ii]{}]{} region modeling. However, here, the method is very demanding and it would be hard to get any reasonable solution even with extremely strong winds (v$\ga$200[kms$^{ -1}$]{}) at a high age ($\ga$300Myr). We also tried to fit the source using a piecewise-exponential hydrogen density profile, but also this time the fit was not acceptable and we were not able to find a good solution. This shows that even for the [H[ii]{}]{} regions that are most compact (those with very high surface brightnesses) a radiative model is hardly applicable. The study presented here is a first step in the analysis of the properties of [H[ii]{}]{} regions. However, the evolutionary picture discussed here is only a first working approximation. The other aspects of the multi-phase photoionized nebulae could be followed using a detailed radiative transfer treatment, but requires a whole lot of additional work. The frequency-integrated radiative transfer treatment of ionized nebulae is currently being improved and tested by the MKHO code [@Stasinska2008a]. Besides, the use of a semi-analytical approximation to the internal structure of the [H[ii]{}]{} regions may fail to reproduce their properties. The intensity of the line could be a better diagnostic for the population of [H[ii]{}]{} regions. Q: Mixing C# and JavaScript I'm working on an application in C# ASP.Net MVC 5. I need to build a menu for my application and I want to keep it separated from the existing code of the MVC project. For now I'm thinking about to create a js library and use it on the layout and I need to use it inside the views. I don't want to mix the C# code with the JavaScript

The mass lies about a half-mile east of Appomattox Court House on the Appomattox Court House and Appomattox Court House National Historical Park, according to the park's history blog, and is 50 to 100 feet wide. Local news reports indicate that the Nazi luge drivers and the men who met them at the station have either disappeared or not responded to the news that the luge was found. "This is the world famous Iron Cross recovered by six veterans of the U.S. Civil War who found the luge on Sunday," says O'Brien. "Vintage photos we have show the luge sitting in this spot while soldiers shovel out the snow and drifts. The owner of the luge, Edwin C. Hunnicutt, is still alive. The veteran's group has not reached Hunnicutt yet. There are a lot of things that can go wrong. These luge rides are very prone to roll over and kids get killed. These guys risked their lives to recover this luge, and you got to stand up for history."TOURNAMENT GENERAL (10) When the team wants to exit the third league in the tournament, the organisation of the match must be done only after the following criteria have been met: - If the match is organised after two seasons with 400 or fewer top-five users in the third league, the match must be played on the second/third official servers of the third league, and, except in special cases, must be played between eight players in the game mode selected by the organisation in the case of the first match played between two clubs from the same league and between twelve players in the case of the first match played between two clubs from different leagues. - If the match is organised after two seasons with between 401 and 799 top-five users in the third league, the match must be played on the first/second official servers of the third league, and must be played between eight players in the game mode selected by the organisation in the case of the first match played between two clubs from the same league and between twelve players in the case of the first match played between two clubs from different leagues. - If the match is organised after two seasons with more than 800 top-five users in the third league, the match must be played on the official servers of the third league, and must be played between nine players in the game mode selected by the organisation in the case of the
