Intranasal administration of antibiotics in the treatment of sinusitis has been used for more than 20 years. Few studies have been published comparing the efficacy of intranasal with that of intramuscular administration. In a prospective study we compared the efficacy of treatment of acute bacterial rhinosinusitis with intranasal penicillin V (4 million units three times daily) with a single intramuscular injection of penicillin V (40 million units three times daily) for 7 days. A total of 95 patients with acute bacterial rhinosinusitis were studied. Fifty patients received intranasal therapy, with a mean duration of therapy of 3.7 days; the other 45 patients 648931e174
