Shareware from Omniportal is a software program designed to play the popular card game, Party Poker. Though its name suggests otherwise, this program was not designed to play poker, but to help generate website metrics and statistical data. Specifically, Omniportal Party Poker is designed to harvest website visitor data and send web analytics information directly to both Omniportal and Google Analytics. Party Poker also features a number of other useful tools for website owners. Like most freeware applications, Party Poker is supported by advertising. Party Poker's interface is full-screen. If you don't see the program's splash screen or buttons, click the Start button in the taskbar and wait a moment, or use the Alt key to open a menu and select "Party Poker". To control the interface, use the Left and Right arrow keys. You can also use the Page Down and Page Up keys to navigate through your Party Poker information. Be sure to know that Party Poker's settings are located on the "Settings" button in the right-click menu on your taskbar. Feel free to set the number of online tables to view your Party Poker statistics, as well as your desired session time-out. You can also set the on/off data collection window, and add/remove the Player ID. When you are ready to collect your data, simply press the start button. When you are finished, you can press the stop button. If you are interested in more information about Party Poker, click the help button on the interface to access the program's Help window. Party Poker Help Window Key Features Online Tables Party Poker enables you to set the number of online tables at which you wish to view your statistics. If you have your own statistics website, it's easy to set Party Poker to use your own data for this purpose. Type of Player At the bottom of the interface are two buttons. They enable you to turn the display on or off of the two most critical pieces of information: the use of Player ID and the data collection window. When you view partypoker.com stats, the display shows your Player ID. When you use partypoker.com to collect your stats, the display shows the data collection window. The first button, at the bottom left of the interface, allows you to turn on/off Player ID. When you select On, a number is displayed in the lower right
