(And more on that later)Q: Single resistor for 1 V in AC circuit I am working on a small circuit that has an AC Signal source. I have a 4W metal halide lamp that I am trying to dim. I am using a simple circuit that switches the 4W AC signal ON and OFF. What I am trying to do is to add a 220 ohm resistor in parallel with the lamp circuit so that if the lamp is ON, it dims a little more and if it is OFF, the lamp dims a lot less. My problem is I am not sure what value resistor to use. I started with 1/4 watt and added one up until the dimming was appropriate. The problem I am having is the lamp will not dim at all, even when turned OFF. I tried using a 1/4 watt or 1/2 watt resistor with no luck. I have a set of multimeters that are all in amperes (there is no ohms setting on them). Would a 220 ohm resistor be too low of a value? If I should increase it, what value would be appropriate? How would I calculate the amount I need? 1cdb36666d
