33 Cal.App.2d 465 (1939) MORRIS A. AHRENS et al., Appellants, v. COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES (a Body Corporate and Politic) et al., Respondents. Civ. No. 11278. California Court of Appeals. Second Appellate District, Division One. June 29, 1939. Arthur L. Hartman and Joseph M. Hirsch for Appellants. Fred N. Howser, Attorney General, and Bayard Rhone, Deputy Attorney General, for Respondents. York, P. J. This is an appeal from an order dismissing the petition for the purpose of vacating and annulling a judgment rendered in an action involving a controversy between the county of Los Angeles and a state tax collector in which a judgment was awarded the appellants in the sum of $5,539.31, with interest at six per cent per annum from the 5th day of March, 1935. The petition to vacate the judgment was filed on the ground the original judgment was void as the judgment had not been rendered by the proper court and the plaintiff had never served an *466 answer within the time prescribed by section 580(2) of the Code of Civil Procedure. Respondent county did not controvert the allegations of appellants' petition, but entered a general demurrer thereto. The trial court sustained the demurrer without leave to amend, and entered its order dismissing the same from the files, and from which an appeal has been taken. [1] It is now well settled that a court of equity may vacate a void judgment either by vacating the judgment or the proceedings by which it was rendered. (27 Cal.Jur. 587, sec. 139; Andrews v. Andrews, 98 Cal.App. 489 [277 P. 220]; Brooks v. Traders & General Ins. Co., 106 Cal. 537 [39 P. 1002].) [2] Inasmuch as respondent county has controverted the allegations of the petition, it can only be considered in the light most favorable to the pleader, which is all that is intended when a demurrer to the petition is sustained without leave to amend. However, the general rule is that a judgment or decree which is valid on its face and regular on its face can only be attacked by appeal. It cannot be impe

For any new, unfamiliar, or old venue, please be aware that what you hear, smell, and taste on our premises may not be completely accurate to that in a restaurant or other establishment or perhaps even the same type of food at the same restaurant, due to the sensory experiences and surroundings of the venue. We have compiled the following list of the scents, aromas, and tastes associated with particular dishes, drinks, and foodstuffs. The ingredients, recipe, and preparation methods may vary for dining in an establishment, and for that we apologize. Clams Clams are usually served deep-fried and/or steamed with lots of aromatic herbs and spices. Clam: smells like shellfish, such as langoustine, clams, mussels, cockles, oysters, and so on. As for the taste: sweet, mild, very salty. Crab Crab is normally served steamed in its own shell with lettuce, tomato, carrots, pickled jalapeno peppers, and fresh herbs. Crab: smells of the sea, hints of sweeter flavor, might have a fresh, cooked taste. As for the taste: sweet, mild, neutral, sometimes salty. Mussels Mussels are usually served steamed in their own shell with oyster sauce, scallions, and/or bay leaf. Mussel: smells of fish and sea. As for the taste: sweet, salty, a bit of nutty, mild and nicely fresh. Scallops Scallops are usually served steamed in its own shell with lemon, garlic, and vinegar. Scallop: smells a bit fishy, fresh, cooked. As for the taste: salty, mild, sweet, sour, with a hint of nutty. Octopus Octopi are usually served deep-fried or steamed in its own shell with slices of fresh garlic, ginger, lemon, green onions, chilies, and potatoes. Octopi: smells slightly fishy, with hints of seafood, mild, cooked. As for the taste: saltier, mellow, sweet, with a hint of mushroom. Prawns Prawns are usually served raw, steamed with garlic, and scallions, or deep-fried. Prawn: smells
